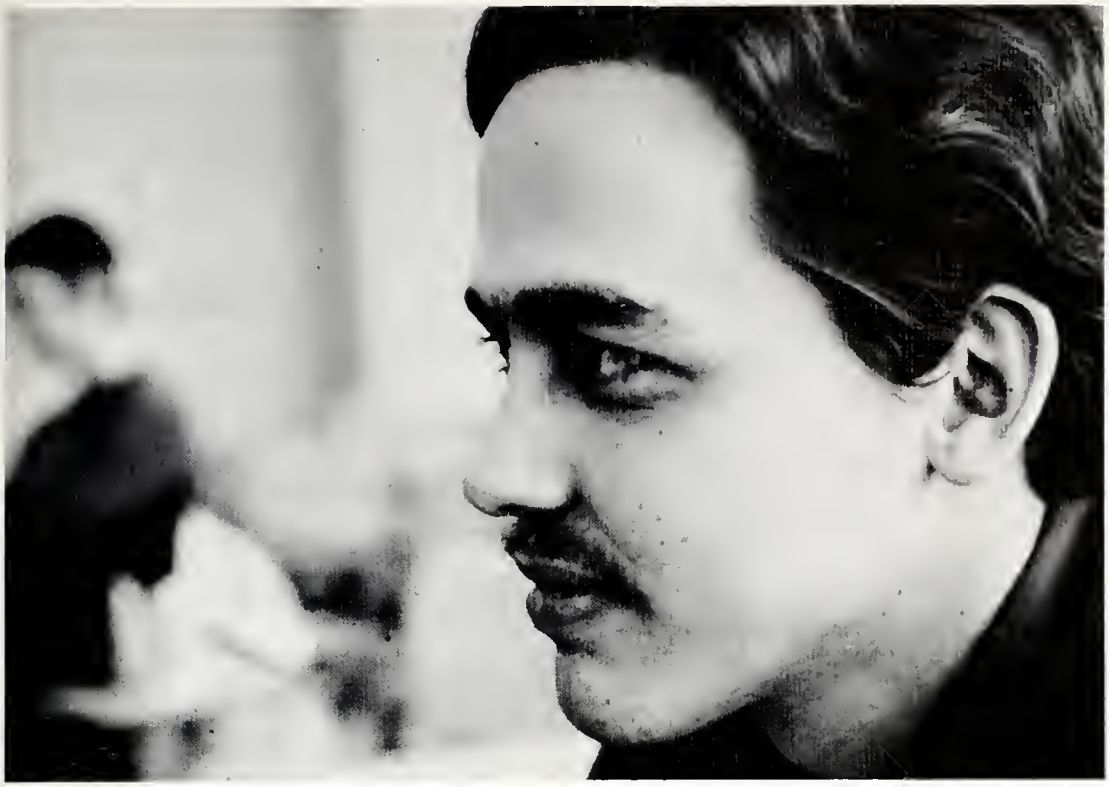
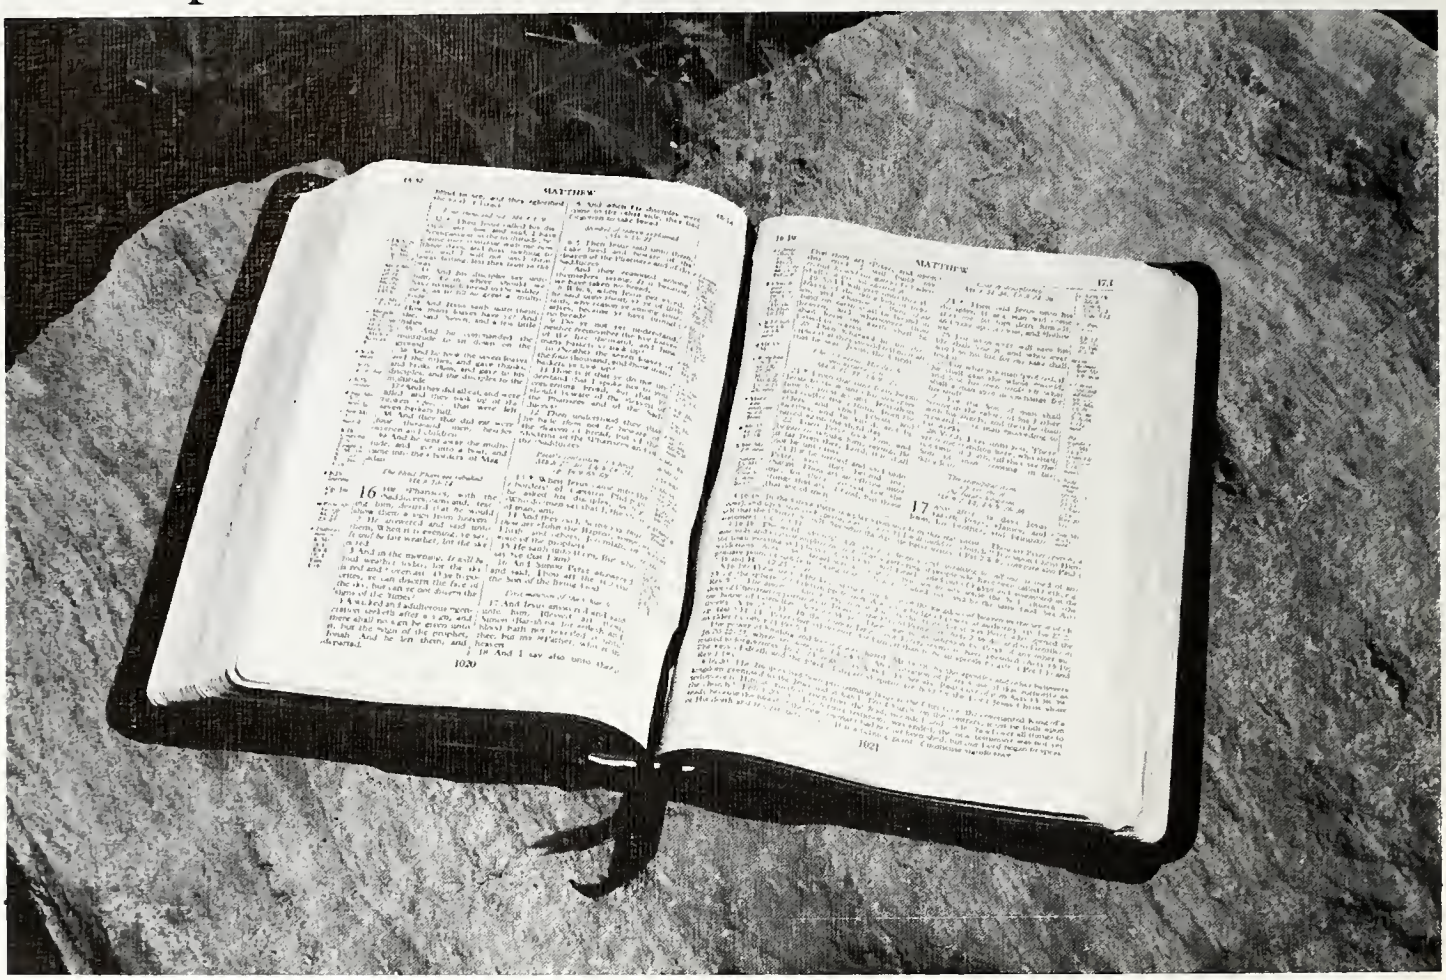
A Step at a Time . . .

Searching Thoughts . . .



Watering the Seed . . . Growing Deeper . . .

. . . Upon This Rock



The frozen aurora of the lamp posts dot the crisp winter night. The parking lot is quiet as the solitary Collegian trailer rests. Inside warm buildings students concentrate, talk, smile, scowl, listen and day dream. Here we learn to build.

Sharing lives and experiences can bring the greatest happiness in all life for two people. Christ makes this happiness eternal.

We show our love by looking for opportunities to share it.

Graduation means an end to a phase. The Architect of life then reveals more of His blue print.

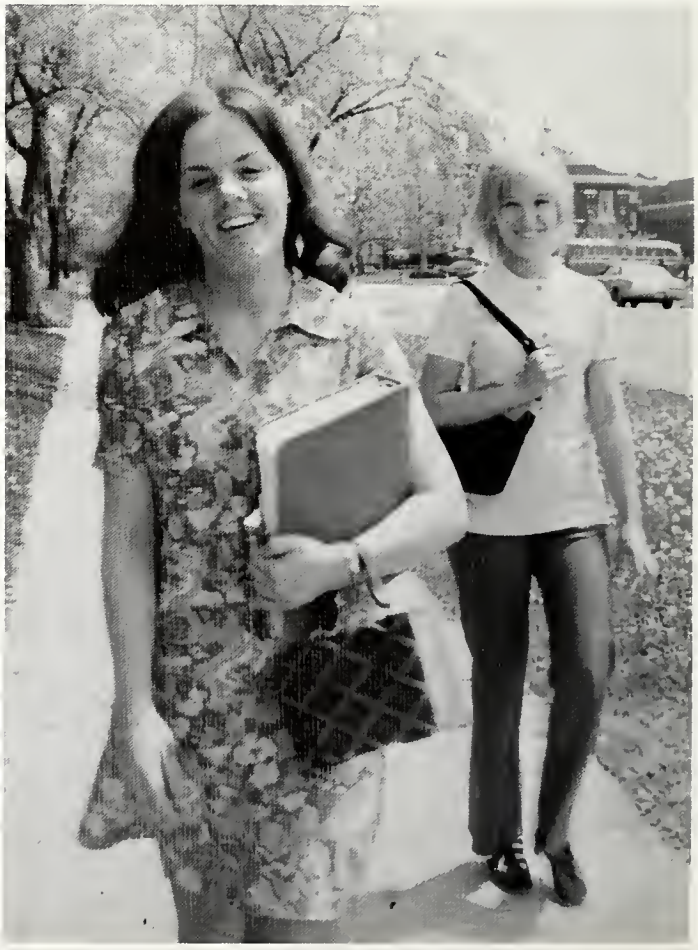
Coming to Fort Wayne Bible College from the pastorate in San Antonio, Texas, Mr. Widder began his first year of teaching in 1965. As time has elapsed, many student organizations and activities have profited from his advice: Youth Conference, Athletic Committee, Christian Union Club, Student Marriage Committee and the Appearance Board. His teaching has been relevant from our freshman through senior years.

Because of your exemplory life, both in and out of the classroom, we dedicate this 1972 Light Tower to you.

Campus Life



Waking up in time for a 7:30 class,
Going to chapel,
Being with the faculty outside the classroom.
Running off to classes again.
Afternoons, evenings - filled with work and study,
But, under the strain of campus activity
Shines the One who makes life worth living.

SYNOPSIS OF PLAY: Although reared by his atheistic uncle not to believe in the Christian faith, for some unknown reason, Andrew Connington begins to visit churches. Being logical and disliking apathy, he decides to become a minister, much to his uncle's displeasure, to improve the "illogical, anemic preaching he is hearing." The conflict of the play is his inability to cope with the problems that confront him as an unconverted minister of the elite Shorncliffe Church.

Cafeteria Capers

The cafeteria was the scene of some unusual sights this year. Mrs. Jodi Hovee with the help of the Cafeteria Committee and the assistance of the cooks planned meals with activity for the students on campus. Attempting to have a special supper each month, the students enjoyed dinner by candlelight, a pizza party, a sweetheart supper in February, a Sadie Hawkins fling, a shamrock supper in March, a birthday party and finally an all school picnic in May.

It's an old world recipe from my mother in Genoa.

Dr. Jared and Dr. Wes make cafeteria appearances a family affair.

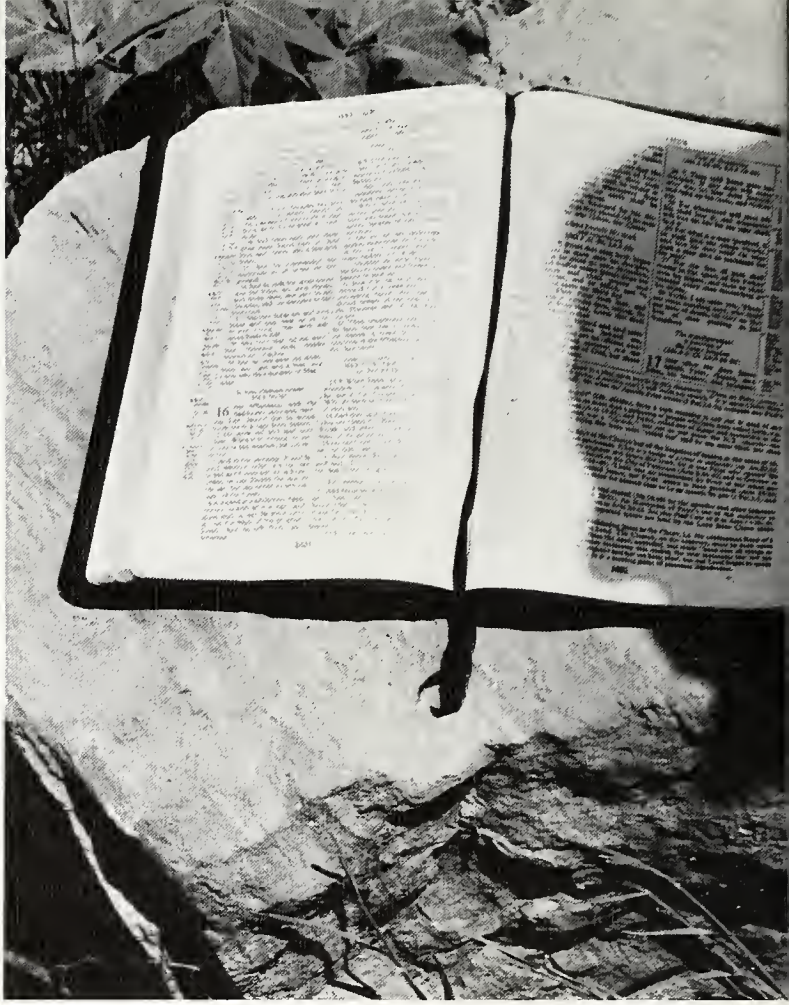
Christian Service



Involved in everyday life,
Being among people as Christ was,
Meeting each week with a Campus Life club,
Discussing problems,
Sharing with a friend,
Telling an inner-city child about Jesus,
Traveling in a singing group,
Experiencing life in the Incarnate Christ,
"Upon This Rock," we build our lives.

As Director of Christian Service, Joy Gerig schedules singing groups and works with Youth Conference.

Christian Service Office

"What you need is a C. S. Assignment," explains Assistant Director, Dick Baxter to Dee Cornell.

Sue Strunk works as assistant, passing out C. S. car keys too.

Judy Seawell continues typing as secretary for the C. S. Department.

Marilyn Hoyt uses her ability as pianist for the group.

The Reflections

The Reflections sing in maxi dresses too.

Marilyn Hoyt, Pam Kawasaki, Kathy Lee, and Janet Dubbs make up the singing group called the Reflections. Known as the shortest group with all of the girls being only around five feet tall. Singing for others gives them joy as they reflect Christ.

Below: Pam catches up on sleep as the group travels on weekends.

The Common Good present Christ through Music.

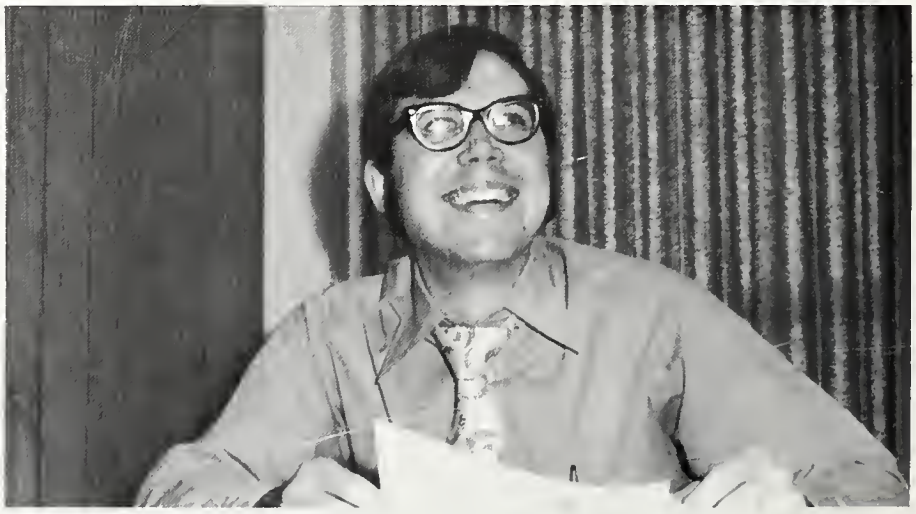
Traveling throughout Nebraska, Iowa, and other parts of the United States gives the opportunity to share Christ while rapping with kids in coffee houses, and affords the time to know each one in the group.

As Sheri Egle relates, "I've built a unique relationship with each member which wouldn't have happened otherwise. I often wondered how so many completely different types of people could get together."

Seeing others come to Christ and talking about Him, even through contemporary music, strengthens the faith.



Jay Platte keeps busy guiding the groups.

The Right Decision find Strength.

Depending on God to give strength requires yielding everything to Him. Debbie Greenawalt shares, "We as a group have learned that we must totally be yielded to Him, voice and all, so that He can work through us. I remember especially one long weekend we spent in Cleveland, Ohio. We sang at three different churches and two banquets. We were very tired by Sunday and our voices seemed to be giving out. To add to the problem Yvonne had cut her finger with a razor blade the morning we left to go. As we presented ourselves to God in prayer, He really supplied strength." As Ron Eade states, ". . . we witnessed Jesus Christ working in others helping them to make the Right Decision."

Singing Collegians Reach-out To People.

Right: Jane Hanni, Rod Boze, and Dave Hamrick share their lives as part of the Collegians. Knowing people begins with finding out about their way of life and problems. It is not easy to be interested in others after traveling and having been with people all day.

On stage after a concert, Rich Schupe is joined by part of the audience.

Denny Doud enjoys being a Collegian too.

"Sharing ourselves is such an important part of Christianity." This is what Collegians found out as they ministered in high schools and coffee houses, to all types of people. Christ becomes real to people as they find He relates to each of us in everyday life. Jesus came to all people, not just the brilliant, the glamorous, or the "neat" people of today. Finding out that others have problems, bridges the gap and helps build relationships. We as Christians must share ourselves to share Christ in a real way.

All kinds of People . . .

Campus Life on the move.

A Campus Life "RIOT" takes place in the spring as high school kids release energy in a newspaper throw.

Dekalb County Youth for Christ Director, Al Black, looks on.

Above: Dee Cornell tries to stay on top of things as her Campus Life club participates in the bathtub fill.

"High school kids are open, honest, and frank. In turn they want the staff to be that way too. It's a real challenge to talk over problems and present Christ as the solution.

Quiz Teams, Childrens Church, and Youth Groups . .

Christian Service can be almost anything since Christ doesn't remain in church when the door closes Sunday. Among the different general C.S. assignments are Good-News clubs, quiz teams, church youth groups, choirs to direct, childrens church, and most recent is the Gospel Temple coffee house counseling. The versatility of assignments offers a choice of an area which will relate to a chosen career. The age group is limitless, whether to counsel high school or college age, to tell stories to a third grader, to check a junior-age boy on memory verses, or to lead a song can be the decision. In a Good-News club Bonnie Larrison and Louise Hooley find the inner-city different and challenging. "The problems come when deciding how to discipline. At home all the children hear is yelled at them in anger. Being firm, but loving without getting angry is hard. But the trouble is worth it when a little Black girl runs up and hugs you and desperately wants your love."

Above: Glen Prine and Paula Cole along with Larry Bowles have a Junior-age childrens church.

"Preparing for a Christian Service assignment becomes worthwhile when that small hand reaches up to be held by mine and she wants to know more about Jesus." Kathy Welker and Wayne Unangst hold childrens church at Christian Union and find that even Beginners ask deep questions. Bob Allen's Junior age Sunday school class of boys is a challenge to reveal Christ.

oe Weyer conducts a quiz team at First Missionary Church.

Chancellor

Dr. Jared F. Gerig

Dr. Jared F. Gerig has served Fort Wayne Bible College during the past year as its first Chancellor. In 1971 he traveled over 40,000 miles from Florida to Hawaii and from Texas to Canada. He met with over 300 alumni presenting the college through a slide presentation. Another part of his job is contacting major donors. Dr. Gerig is our Ambassador-at-large.

The position of Chancellor holds no administrative authority and is held on a year-to-year basis. Dr. Gerig will officially retire from this post on July 1, 1972.

Dr. Jared Gerig, left, talks with associates at the dinner which followed the spring board meeting.

The Governing Board of Fort Wayne Bible College is responsible for policy decisions. Its members are the trustees of the property and the financial interests of the college. They also approve fund-raising activities and hire the President. Another responsibility is to approve faculty and administrative appointments.

Two-thirds of the members are elected by the general conference of the Missionary Church. One-third of the members are appointed by the board and ratified by the general board of the Missionary Church. Three ex-officio members are the President of the Alumni Association, the President of the Missionary Church and the President of Fort Wayne Bible College.

Inauguration - 1971

Dr. Timothy M. Warner - President

The following is a portion of "Facing the Issues" delivered by Dr. Timothy Warner at his inauguration.

"One of the strengths of the American system of higher education has been its diversity. We have not had a government department of education with standard curriculums and tests. On the contrary, all varieties of schools have existed from those based on the classical English university to the technical and agricultural schools, from church colleges to state universities. This has had the wholesome effect of keeping many needed emphases alive which might have been lost in a controlled system. Our nation would certainly be the loser if current pressures to conformity rob us of the variety of educational options open to us and prevent schools from being distinctive."

The family of Dr. Warner awaits the inauguration ceremonies.

On October 8, 1971, in Founders Memorial Auditorium, Dr. Timothy M. Warner became the fourth President of Fort Wayne Bible College. Dr. Warner holds the Bachelor of Arts degree from Taylor University, the Bachelor of Sacred Theology degree from New York University and the Doctor of Education degree from Indiana University.

Before beginning his service at Fort Wayne Bible College, Dr. Warner was assistant pastor in New York City and served as U. S. Army Chaplain's assistant during the second World War.

He first joined the faculty as Dean of Men in 1953. The following year he was promoted to Dean of Students. In 1956 he accepted an appointment as a missionary to Sierra Leone, West Africa where he served until returning to the college in 1959. Since then he has become Chairman of the Department of Missions, Dean of the College, and now President of Fort Wayne Bible College.

Mr. Dale Ferrier congratulates President Warner.

Dr. Warner works intently at a less glamorous aspect of the President's job.

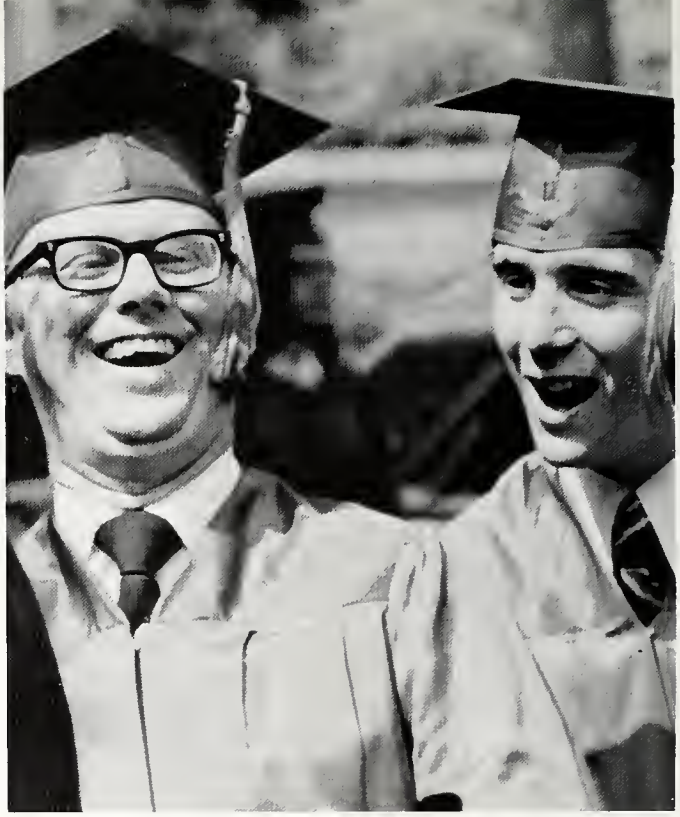
Graduation

Paul Roth and Wayne Unangst, two junior class officers, carried the flags and led members of the faculty and graduating seniors to the chapel for graduation ceremonies.



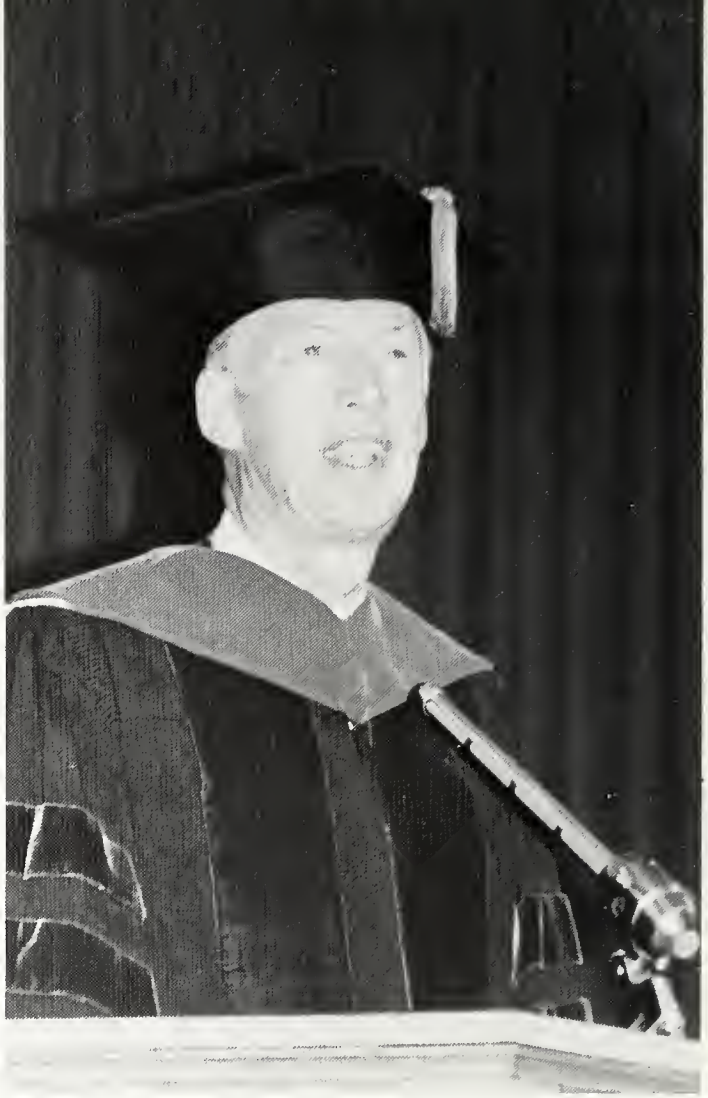
Terry, how do you know the juniors are going to crash this thing?

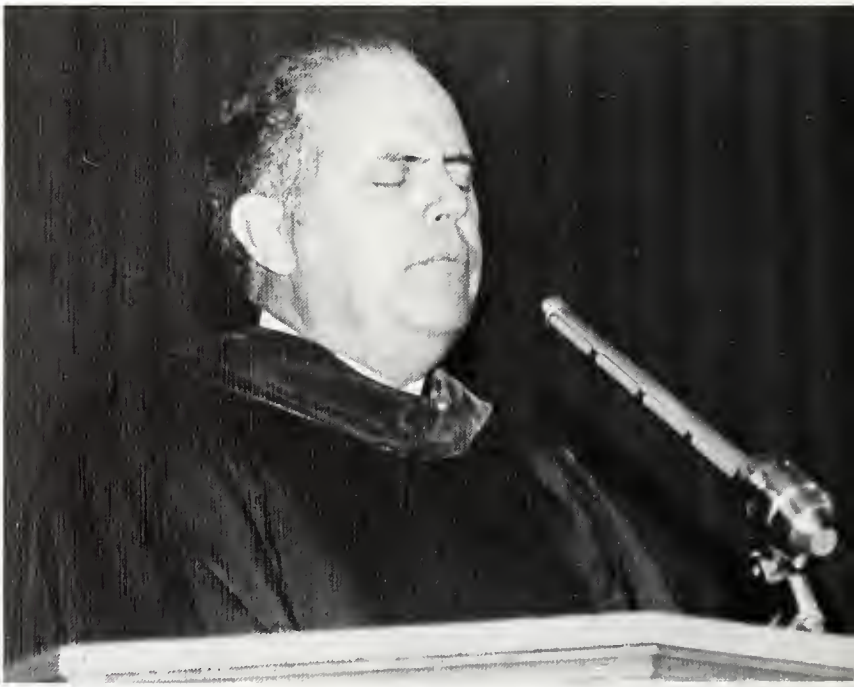
Tom Rader tries to prove that graduation is not an entirely solemn occasion.

Dr. Hughes gave our Baccalaureate address.

Right: Dr. Armerding, President of Wheaton College, gave the commencement address.

Rev. Robert Chroniger, father of Linda and Rosie, read the Scripture during graduation ceremonies.





Above: Rev. John Caddy offers a prayer during graduation ceremonies. At left: Sue Kubota receives her long awaited for diploma.

Graduation had a different meaning for everyone. For some it meant they could finally get married, for some it meant going to another school, for the faculty it meant they could once again show the seniors the proper way to march, and for everyone it meant a fond goodbye to Fort Wayne Bible College.

Sophomores

To our foundation, we build a second level.
We return to see the why's, how's and when's.
We're learning by . . .
Being servers on the campus . . .
in the church . . . in the community
Beginning to grasp
the alpha and omega of Greek Becoming acquainted with the word "collateral"
We're fearful, yet happy;
confused, yet confident.
For we know that we are resting and leaning on the Firm Foundation.

Class Officers

Class officers are Sharon Samples, Secretary; Dave Greenhood, Vice-President; Tom Schindler, Treasurer; Dr. G. Hovee, Advisor; Pete Strubhar, President; and Larry Bowles, Chaplain.

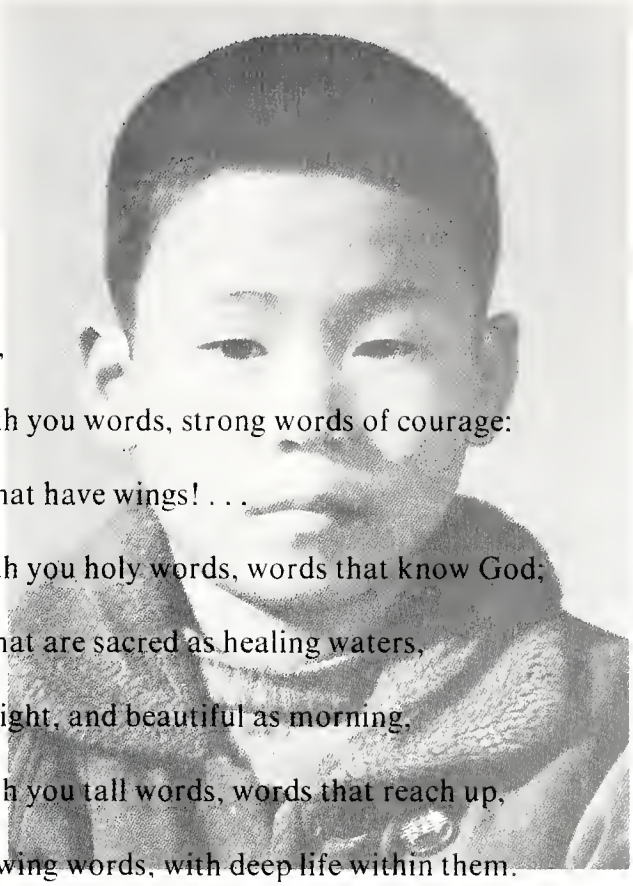
Student Senate '71 - '72



Dear Seniors,

Take with you words, strong words of courage:

Words that have wings! . . .

Take with you holy words, words that know God;

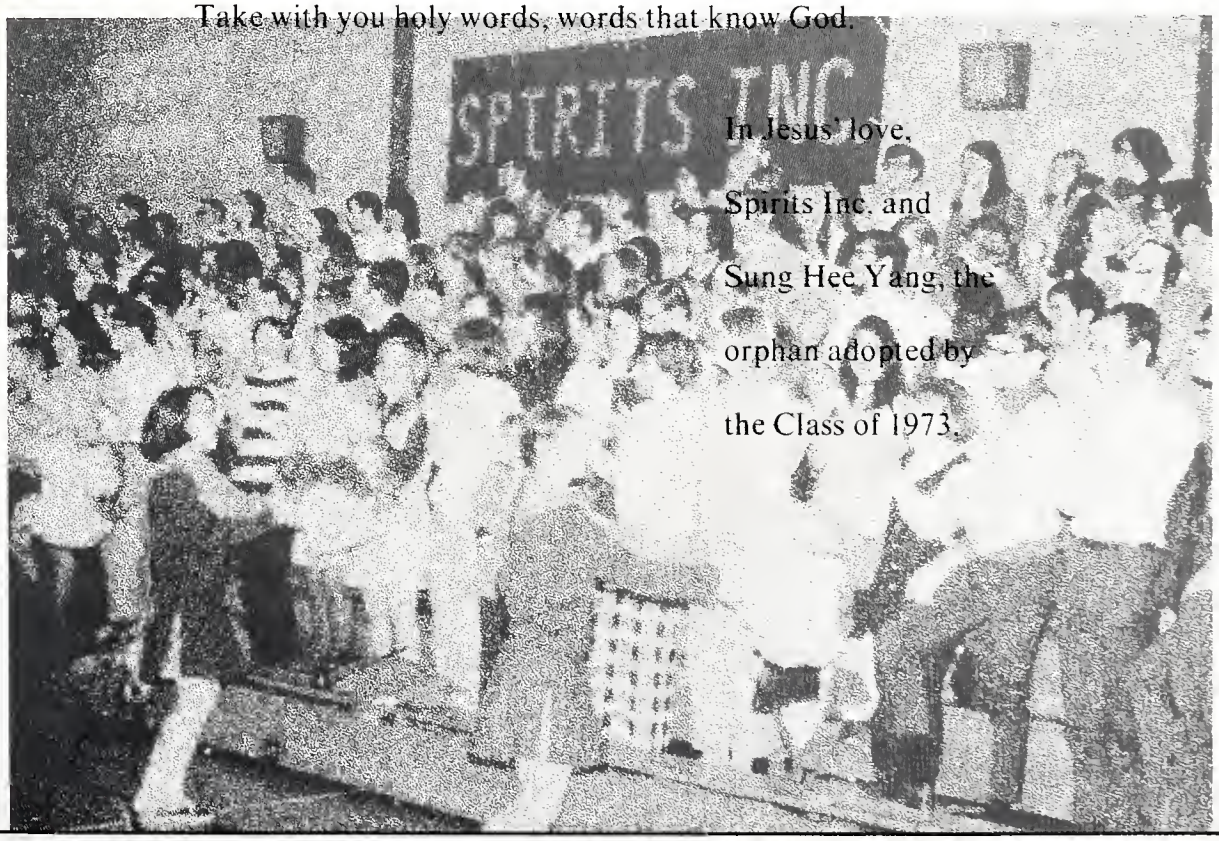
Words that are sacred as healing waters,

Pure as light, and beautiful as morning,

Take with you tall words, words that reach up,

And growing words, with deep life within them.

Take with you holy words, words that know God.



In Jesus' love,

Spirits Inc. and

Sung Hee Yang, the orphan adopted by the Class of 1973.

Epilogue

Continuously moving life.
Day by day, life.
As traveling with Christian to the Eternal City,
The life of our college, the life of individuals.
Having laid the foundation,
Establishing the school, becoming followers of Christ,
Let us now prove what we know to be true.
Let us build
Upon this Rock.
